Dear Parents and Carers,

We would like to make you aware of potential risks associated with children playing the online game platform Roblox.

While Roblox may appear to be safe for primary school children it includes unverified user generated content and online interactions that are not always suitable or appropriate. Some games, such as the currently popular "99 nights in the forest" expose children to inappropriate language, violence or frightening situations. In addition, the platform allows children to communicate with others online with little safeguarding restriction, which is a safety risk if not carefully monitored.

We strongly encourage parents to closely supervise their child's online activity and regularly discuss online safety with their children. In some cases, you may wish to limit or avoid access to Roblox altogether, particularly for younger children.

As a parent/carer you play a vital role in keeping children safe online. If you would like further guidance on digital safety, please seek advice from trusted online safety resources such as the NSPCC and SaferInternet.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs K Davies
