

Kensington Community Primary School Newsletter

29th January 2024—2nd February 2024

Dear parents and carers,

This week our assemblies focussed on E-Safety in preparation for the national e-safety day next week. The children are regularly reminded how they are able to keep themselves safe online and how they should behave when they are sending messages or playing games online. Next week the children will look specifically at this in their computing lesson. As parents you can go on our school website and find plenty of resources to help you to support keeping your child safe online.

On Monday there was another New Age Kurling Competition the children played really well and came third overall. Well done to all those children who took part.

This week the children from year 2 have been on a visit to the Maritime Museum. The children were there to investigate what happened with the Titanic. The children's behaviour was really good and they thought carefully about the information that was shared with them.

This week Mrs Darsey has started her shared parental leave so we are happy to welcome Mr Cooper to our school. Mr Cooper is originally from America and the children who have already been taught by him have all really enjoyed him being their teacher. Mr Cooper will be 4D's teacher until Mrs Darsey returns just before the spring break.

Today the children have joined in with the NSPCC Number Day. Some of the children came with own clothes on where they had found something to wear with numbers on them. A special mention to those children who went all out and hand decorated their own t-shirts and those who had personalised calculator t-shirts very imaginative.

We have an opportunity that I would like to share with you. We are looking for a lunchtime supervisor to supervise and play with the Key Stage 1 children at lunchtimes. If you want to be considered please let the office know and they will give you the appropriate forms that need to be filled in and all the details of the hours etc.

Finally, can I remind all parents that there are double yellow lines on Belltower Lane and that means no parking. I have been made aware that there was a nasty incident between two parents regarding parking inappropriately on this road. Please be aware that we have notified parking officials at the council that there is an issue.

I hope that you all have a lovely weekend,

Mrs. K. Davies
